Mountain Festival sponsors New Year's Eve blast

Sheridan, Wyoming - The Big Horn Mountain Festival is sponsoring a major New Year's Eve party and dance at the Holiday Inn in Sheridan on Dec.31. Popular local artist, The Jalan Crossland Band is featured, along with the Teka Brock Band.

"The Big Horn Mountain Festival Committee wanted to find a way to promote live music by sponsoring a significant New Year's celebration and dance," said Paul Jarvis, one of the organizers. "We thought it would be a good way to help fulfill our mission to support our local musicians, as well as promote the July 10, 11 and 12 Big Horn Mountain Festival."

The celebration will begin at 8:00 PM New Year's Eve in the ballroom at the Sheridan Holiday Inn and continue until well after midnight. Music, dancing, party favors, snacks, drawings for prizes, and Champaign are included in the $20 fee.

Tickets for the event can be obtained at Buffalo Chamber of Commerce, Joy Appliance and Video, The Sports Lure in Buffalo, The WYO Theater and Java Moon in Sheridan, or they will be available at the door.

The Jalan Crossland Band features great playing and singing of old country and folk favorites, as well as outstanding original music. Jalan has a huge following in Sheridan and around the country. The hot new Teka Brock Band is made up of local musicians who cover country, bluegrass and folk music. Teka has recently made a popular country video and has performed locally at the WYO Theater. In addition, the Big Horn Mountain Festival planning committee band, The High Lonesome Willies, will entertain with some bluegrass picking.

The 2009 Big Horn Mountain Festival will feature 11 bands including The SteelDrivers, The Wiyos, Special Consensus, Steve Smith and Hard Road, Bill Evans and Megan Lynch, Flexigrass, The Jalan Crossland Band, Anne and Pete Sibley, The Long Road Home with Peter Warnick, Jeff Troxel and D. Michael Thomas. The festival also features workshops, contests, demonstrations, instrument raffles, vendors, arts and crafts.

More information about the New Year's Party or the July 10, 11 and 12 Big Horn Mountain Festival can be found at www.bighornmountainfestival.com or by calling the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce at 307-684-5544.
